

Eruptik Throws out the Gauntlet to the IT Industry with the Launch of its 60th Information Management System Built "The Eruptik Way"

Victoria, BC, Canada – May 16, 2007: Eruptik (www.eruptik.com) celebrates the launch of its 60th business system and says that it is ready to take on the IT industry with a radical new and better way of delivering custom business applications.

Eruptik delivered, in just 6 weeks, a comprehensive property management and workflow system to COHO Repair Service (<http://www.coho.bc.ca/repair/index.html>), a property management company based in Victoria and Vancouver, that services housing co-operatives and non-profit housing societies across Canada.

COHO's custom application manages all its properties, units, service requests, inspection reports and expenses. It automatically creates work orders based on inspection details, tracks the status of repairs and includes analysis tools for budget tracking and projections. It's topped off with a CRM system to manage their clients.

"Eruptik has been phenomenal to work with from the start," said John Waldo, Director of Client Services at COHO Repair Service. "For fractions of what other companies were quoting, and in record time, Eruptik delivered a system that has exceeded our expectations and has enabled us to expand our business with a new warranty program service we never imagined we'd be able to offer."

Eruptik's unique methodology includes their partners and clients up front in a development process that employs prototyping of requirements and rapid iterative development. The collaborative nature of the Eruptik approach mitigates risks, minimizes the impact of "surprises", and ensures that "issues" are identified and resolved early in the project.

"It never fails to amaze me how quickly Eruptik can deliver systems with complex data, complicated workflows and demanding reporting requirements." shared Phil Arctander, President of PARC Systems Inc. and Eruptik partner. "Eruptik's focus on reusability has allowed me to take a system deployed for one client and reuse close to 80% of it for another, reducing their costs by 75%!"

Eruptik has kept a low profile in the industry (under the name FastPath Solutions Group), perfecting its technology over the past three years. It's now ready to take on the traditional IT pundits and be an advocate for clients who dare to dream about embarking on new IM projects without the fear of long-winded requirement specifications, escalating costs and schedule slippages typical with traditional methodologies.

"At Eruptik, we've pioneered a new development model for Information Management Systems that has revolutionized the way IT systems are delivered." stated Phil Mclaughlin CTO of Eruptik. "We are committed to not only meeting the evolving needs of our clients, but we promise to do it better, faster and for a fraction of the cost of competitor solutions."

Dozens of Eruptik-powered health care systems, image and document libraries, portals, proposal management systems, financial management systems, tracking and reporting systems, CRM and Internet content management solutions have been delivered in weeks instead of months, for orders of magnitude less to small and large business as well as many provincial and federal government departments.
